

Australian Sonographer Accreditation Registry (ASAR)
Policy & Procedure 4 - Appointing the ASAR Course Assessment
Committee

1. Preamble

ASAR's objective is to promote high standards of medical sonography in Australia which includes setting uniform, minimum standards of Sonographer education by assessing and accrediting courses in all disciplines of sonography.

This policy details the roles and responsibilities of the ASAR Course Assessment Committee (the Committee) and ASAR's practices for appointing the members of that Committee.

2. Policy Principles

ASAR is committed to ensuring that all accredited Sonography Courses meet the eight Standards for the Accreditation of Sonography Courses (SASC). In order to achieve this, the application procedure must be conducted in accordance with the accreditation principles identified below. It is the responsibility of the members of the Pool when participating in accreditation activities to ensure these principles are adhered to.

ASAR Course Assessment Committee members will be selected from a pool of people who have skills and expert knowledge of sonography, specialist disciplines, and/or expertise in education. Committees will be established in response to changing demands, expectations and needs of the course seeking accreditation.

2.1. Establishment of the ASAR Course Assessment Committee

The Committee is to be established by the ASAR Board of Directors under by-laws in the constitution which have been subject to approval by members.

2.2. Terms of Reference for the ASAR Course Assessment Committee

The ASAR Board of Directors devolves responsibility for the review of applications for accreditation of Sonography Courses to the appointed members of the ASAR Course Assessment Committee under specified Terms of Reference.

Having reviewed all the evidence provided by the Course Provider seeking course accreditation the Committee makes a recommendation to the ASAR Board of Directors in regard to the outcome of the applications for accreditation; however only the Board of Directors can determine the status of courses seeking accreditation.

3. Accreditation Principles

The accreditation principles underpinning the approach to accreditation are:

Legitimacy

The accreditation procedure must be legitimate and acceptable to stakeholders. Such legitimacy includes impartiality in relation to particular stakeholder groups; and appropriate respect for the academic autonomy of course providers. The accreditation procedure must also be consistent with current legislation and guidelines.

Validity

The accreditation procedure must be valid in that the procedures are appropriate for assessing the determination of criteria. These criteria must be evidence-based and explicitly related to the necessary graduate competency outcomes and other specified purposes of the accreditation procedure. The period and status of accreditation must be appropriate to the nature of the programs and developments in the professional field.

Efficiency

The accreditation procedure must cover what is necessary and sufficient and not be unnecessarily burdensome for course providers, Course Assessment Committee members or other participants.

Accountability & Transparency

The accreditation procedure and its outcomes should also be transparent to stakeholders and the public as long as appropriate confidentiality and protection of privacy is maintained.

Procedural fairness

The accreditation Procedure must meet the principles of procedural fairness.

Quality and improvement

The accreditation procedures and criteria should facilitate the development of programs of the highest academic and professional quality and facilitate the continuous improvement of programs over the period for which they are accredited.

Ongoing cycle of review

The accreditation procedures must undergo an ongoing cycle of review to maintain consistency with these principles and for ongoing improvement.
